

Title: Alone

Alone

Alone is where I stand, walk, and run
Alone and I are one in the same
Always standing alone from something

Alone and I stand together
But I walk with the grass
Its always here with me, but its always there ahead of me too
So I'm always walking alone from something

The grass and I walk together
But I run with the water
The water always runs to keep up with the shore but right before she gets there, its gone

And there she is, alone
She kept washing her waves of disappoint away
And pushed it into the deepest, darkest hole she could find
She washed herself onto the "shore not steady"
And ended up walking with the grass and I

And then the water was washed back into the ocean
The grass stopped walking ahead of me
And there I was,
Standing with alone again
